BALLARD HEADS BRIDGES COMMITTEE

Madison Representative Also On Body That Will Handle Normal School Legislation

Representative Leonard H. Ballard, of Madison county, was made Chairman of the Committee on public bridges, by Speaker Joe F. Bosworth of the House at Frankfort. Announcement of the committee appointment of the various members of the House and Senate was made Monday. Mr. Ballard's chairmanship may have been received because the Speaker has heard of the agitation over the Clay's Ferry bridge, litigation concerning which is now before the Court of Appeals. This committee usually has very little to do, however.

Mr. Ballard drew a position on the Normal schools committee, which will enable him to look after legislation affecting the big state institution located here. He is also on the committee to consider deferred questions or measures affecting fourth class cities, which will enable him to look after any legislation affecting Richmond. His other committee assignments are committees on agriculture, assignment of committee rooms, constitutional amendments, education No. 1, federal relations.

State Senator Clarence F. Miller, of Irvine, who represents this district in the upper house of the legislature, was well taken care of by the Democratic House Committee on Rules, which named the committees in the senate. Senator Miller was made chairman of the important committee on courts and legal procedure. He was also placed on the committees on Charitable, Penal and Reformatory Institutions, compensation for industrial injuries, education and judiciary.

Mack Morgan, the young representative from Garrard county, was made chairman of the important committee on agriculture. He was also placed on the following committees: Education No. 1, Forestry, Normal Schools, Public Libraries, and cities of fifth and sixth class.

Lincoln county's representative H. G. Skiles, a prominent young banker of Crab Orchard, drew assignments on the committee on banks and banking, geological survey, insurance, life and accident; congressional redistricting, and sinking fund.

Mr. Ballard spent the weekend at his home in the country. He likes his work at Frankfort, and is much pleased with the way things started off. Speaking of his vote against the woman suffrage amendment he said that he would have voted for the amendment giving the people of the state a right to vote on the question. Then, too, he said, it seemed to him that the suffrage proposition was rammed down the throats of members, sort of "railroaded" through; that the members were asked to vote it through before they had hardly gotten their seats well located, and for that reason he didn't vote for it, as he didn't approve of such hasty action on any subject, especially one as important as amending the constitution of the United States.

Asserting that it is not the intention of the law of Kentucky that this state should accept money in return for a privilege which it does not protect, Representative John Murphy, of Covington, introduced in the House of Representatives a resolution providing that the state refund to all saloon keepers the unused part of their state license fees. Murphy said that he did not know the amount involved, but that in Kenton and Campbell counties alone it would run up into the thousands of dollars.

A. Mitchell Palmer, Attorney-General of the United States, was invited to address the Legislature.

The resolution of Senator C. S. Nunn, unanimously passed in the Senate, calling on the United States Senate immediately to ratify the peace treaty, was defeated in the House by a vote of 54 to 34.

No Chance Before 16th

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 13—Final action on the peace treaty by January 16th, when the council or the League of Nations will assemble in Paris, vanished today, according to republican and democratic leaders. A spokesman said no action is probable before next week.

Grand Jury Dismisses Schott

(By Associated Press)
Louisville, Jan. 13—The grand jury today refused to indict Dr. Christopher G. Schott. It made a report to Judge Harry Robinson in criminal court. The report said, "investigation of the case of Dr. Schott charged with willful murder is dismissed." John Griffith and wife, parents of Elizabeth Griffith, the girl whose death in Dr. Christopher Schott's office December 24, stirred Louisville, appeared before the grand jury and demanded the presence of Mrs. Emma Nall, who, the Griffiths declared, saw Schott in front of his office between 2 and 2:30 the day Miss Griffith was killed. The time given is half an hour before Schott says he reached the office.

WILL INVESTIGATE ARMY DECORATIONS

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 13—A congressional investigation will be made of army decoration awards. Representative Gallavin, democrat of Massachusetts, declared in the House today that more distinguished Service Medals in proportion were awarded to army officers who never got nearer the front than Washington than to those who saw service overseas. "The Distinguished Service Medal was cheapened and certainly ridiculed by the bold and brazen manner in which it has been passed out to those of the elect," said Gallavin. "It has been used as a reward for friendship, even been used to placate those who have been moved to make way for some one else."

Both are prominent young business men of Richmond, and have many friends who will be interested in their success.

RICHMOND MARKET IS PROVEN MUCH HIGHER

Local Pinhooker Cleans Up By Buying In Another Town and Then Selling Crop Here

Splendid prices continued on the Richmond tobacco market today. There is no let-up and every indication that the market will continue to improve from now on.

An indication of just how much better the Richmond market is than in other counties was shown on the local breaks Tuesday morning. A prominent local "pinhooker" had bought half of a crop in an adjoining county. It went to another warehouse, outside of Richmond. The Richmond man rejected the sale of his half of the crop, and then bought out his partner at what had been offered in the other town, which was $50.25 a hundred pounds.

Tuesday morning the local man brought the same crop to the Richmond market, placed it on sale and sold it for $65 a hundred pounds—a clear profit of $15 a hundred over what the same crop had been sold for any other market and not a hundred miles away from Richmond either. NO GREAT ACT OF HEROISM REQUIRED

If some great act of heroism was necessary to protect a child from a crowd, no mother would hesitate to protect her offspring, but when it is only necessary to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and give it as soon as the first indication of a cold appears, there are many who neglect it. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is within the reach of all and is prompt and effectual.

CAN'T REPEAL ACT OF RATIFICATION

Anti-Saloon Head Says Most Absolute Power Cannot Recall A Past Act

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 13—State legislatures cannot under the law repeal their ratification of the constitutional prohibition amendment, Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, declared in a statement today, discussing the recommendations for repeal made to the New York law makers by Gov. Smith.

Wheeler cited attempts of New Jersey and Ohio to withdraw their ratification of the 14th Amendment which Congress refused to accept and quoted Chief Justice Marshall to the effect "if an act be done under a law, the succeeding legislature cannot undo it. The past cannot be recalled by the most absolute power."

Won't Let Michigan Veto On It

(By Associated Press)
Lansing, Mich., Jan. 13—The validity of the action of the Michigan legislature in ratifying the federal prohibition amendment without submitting the question to a referendum was argued today in the Supreme Court. MISS LAURA CLAY FOR U. S. SENATOR?

Lexington Paper Says She May Be Candidate If Women Get Vote This Year

Miss Laura Clay, of Richmond and Lexington, may be a candidate for the United States senate, if women obtain the ballot in time, this year according to a story in the Lexington Leader Sunday. Miss Clay is the pioneer suffragist of Kentucky. She attended the Democratic state convention last September as a delegate from Madison county and made a strong fight before the resolutions committee for her suffrage plank. Her possible candidacy would undoubtedly arouse great interest everywhere and especially here in her home county. The Leader story Sunday said:

Miss Laura Clay for United States senator, if the woman suffrage amendment to the constitution of the United States is adopted, is the united program of both factions in the suffrage fight in Kentucky, judging from expressions from prominent members of both factions, who were asked Saturday if the women had any candidates for office in the event their amendment won.

Mrs. Harrison G. Foster, formerly prominent in Washington State politics, and herself a delegate to Democratic national conventions from that State, said that at a dinner party the other day she had suggested a complete slate of candidates, including the Legislature and Congress. Mrs. Foster has the distinction of having refused to run for Congress in Washington. She refused to give the names of candidates other than Miss Clay, whom she had slated for the Senate.

Miss Clay is my choice for the Senate," she said. "I don't mind saying that much. The 'slate' as you call it, came to me on the inspiration of the moment, but if that slate went thru and was elected, this city, county and State would be as well represented at Frankfort and Washington as they ever have been in their history. There is no doubt in my mind that some of the women are preparing right now to run for office in the event of the Anthony amendment.

"You can say that the suffragists of Kentucky would be united on one thing—the matter of making Miss Laura Clay United States senator if she would run," said Mrs. E. L. Hutchinson, for years a leader in suffrage matters in Fayette county and in the State. "There would be no factions on that question," she said. "Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, secretary of the national committee of the Prohibition party, and herself a suffrage worker as well as a prohibition advocate for years, said she was of the opinion that the adoption of the Anthony amendment would give the women the right only to vote in Federal elections until Kentucky adopted a State amendment."

Mrs. Frank L. McVey, president of the Fayette Equal Rights Association, however, said that, in her opinion, the adoption of the Anthony amendment would remove all political disability from women. Mrs. Foster expressed the same view, saying that the Anthony amendment was exactly that the word "sex" is used in place of "race, color or previous condition of servitude." That would make the Anthony amendment read as follows:

ARTICLE XIX

"1—The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

"2—The Congress shall have power to enforce the provisions of this article by appropriate legislation."

NEGRO BOYS JAILED FOR STEALING COAL

Five young negro boys were given jail sentences and two others who claimed to be under 16 years old, were sentenced to the Reform School by a jury upon conviction in county court Tuesday morning of stealing coal from L. & N. freight trains near the depot. One of the boys who was given a jail sentence, Chester Crawford, has just finished a term for the same offense. The boys were arrested by Patrolmen Maupin and Turner Sunday night. The older boys were on top of coal cars throwing off coal, which the younger ones were loading into push carts. They are said to have sold a considerable quantity.

The boys caught and the sentences they received were: Chester Crawford, 60 days; Alonzo Hilde, 30 days; Stonewell Wilkin, 30 days; James Lloyd, 60 days; and Ernest Menefee, 60 days. The younger boys were William Monday and Charles Irvine Fife. Each was sentenced to the Reform School for one year but the sentences were suspended by Judge Price pending their good behavior.

BOTH NOW READY FOR COMMISSION TO ACT

(By Associated Press)
Washington, Jan. 13—Mine operators in the central competitive field today told the commission named to settle the bituminous coal strike that they would accept with a single reservation any award the commission might make.

The operators said they would not be a party to fixing coal prices beyond the period of effectiveness of the Lever law. They also said they would not make acceptance of the commission's award contingent upon answers to ten questions which the operators yesterday asked the commission.

The miners then put before the commission their full demands as originally made before the strike for a 60 per cent wage increase, six-hour day and five-day week. Acting President Lewis said their demands were not a mere pretense on which to trade but "originated in the minds of the miners themselves."

Mr. S. H. Baughman, of Stanford is with relatives here.

Fire originating from defective wiring destroyed the handsome home of Isaac Miller near Lexington, entailing a loss of $10,000. Little household furniture was saved.

TWO MORE BIG CROWDS HEAR DR. MORRISON

Striking Illustrations Given of Relationship of Christ and His Church

The revival services at the Methodist church are growing in interest. Notwithstanding the fact that Monday is a busy day, a large audience gathered at the 2:30 service in the afternoon.

Dr. Morrison took for his text a beautiful passage of scripture found in Gen. 24:9: "And now if ye will deal kindly and truly with my Master; tell me, and if not, tell me, that I may turn to the right hand or to the left."

Dr. Morrison commented on the fact that Abraham's wife was dead and that Abraham commissioned his servant to go and find a bride for Isaac.

knowing that Isaac was to be the father of a great nation was re- He remarked that Abraham minded that Isaac's wife was to be the mother of that nation, and Abraham knew as we all do that you cannot have a great family without a great mother.

The preacher called attention to the fact that the mother wields the most powerful influence over her offspring.

He said that he knew numbers of instances where excellent families of children had grown up with very inferior, sometimes drunken fathers, but he challenged the audience to point out one instance of a good family with a bad mother.

The preacher dwelt at some length on the finding of Rebekah and got a beautiful illustration out of the engagement ring.

In the spiritual interpretation of the Hebrew romance, Mr. Morrison said that Abraham represented the Infinite Father, Isaac was a beautiful type of Christ and the spirit-filled minister stands for the servant under covenant seeking for a bride for Jesus.

"The church is the bride of Christ. She must be separated from the world; she must be a pure and consecrated bride in order that she may be a fruitful bride. It is through a pure church, consecrated to Christ that our Lord wins lost souls."

The speaker gave some striking illustrations of the beautiful relationship of husband and wife, of Christ and His church.

The audience gave every evidence of appreciative interest.

The evening audience packed the church and many chairs were used. The preacher's theme was "The Lost Christ."

He showed how that, notwithstanding Mary believed in Jesus and loved Jesus and would not have intentionally gone away from Jerusalem and left Jesus behind, yet in her eagerness to keep up with the infatuation and acquaintance she travelled an entire day on the mere supposition that Jesus was in the company when, in fact, He had been left in Jerusalem.

He described her return and the finding of Christ and then called attention to the fact that many church members in their effort to keep up with the crowd, in the eagerness of business pursuits, in their chase after pleasure, had left Jesus far behind.

He urged the people not to be content with church membership with its forms and ceremonies but to be sure of the presence and companionship of Christ.

Thinking over the matter, wasn't the preacher correct, isn't it one thing to be a church member and another thing to be a Christian? Isn't it possible that we have not a few professing Christians who in their struggle to keep up with the world, have left Christ far behind. These are questions demanding serious and careful thinking on the part of all professed Christians—Contributed.
